During the second quarter of 2021, the number of workers increased by 22 thousand workers compared to the first quarter of the same year (1% increase in the W.B. compared to 6% increase in Gaza). In addition, the number of Palestinian workers working in the Israeli labor market increased by 8 thousand during the same period. The Palestinian government approved a 30% raise of the minimum wage, which will reach 1880 NIS from the beginning of 2022

Since its adoption in 2012, the minimum wage in Palestine had remained at 1450 NIS. In August 2021, the government approved a new minimum wage that will be implemented from 2022. The Ministry of Labor stated that it will take all steps needed to ensure the implementation of the law and will develop further mechanisms to monitor its implementation. In relation to the issue of the minimum wage implementation, DWRC issued a case study on the minimum wage.

DWRC implements a workshop about rights, arrangements and benefits for workers with family responsibilities

On Tuesday 24/08/2021, the Democracy and Workers’ Rights Center implemented workshops in Ramallah & Gaza to discuss the findings of its exploratory study that aims to gain a better understanding of the type of measures, benefits and arrangements adopted in the private and public sectors.

The study includes an analysis of the availability and adequacy of measures that facilitate reconciliation of work and family responsibilities according to Palestinian labor legislation and public policies, as well as the findings of a survey conducted with 110 companies/organizations in the private and non-governmental sector. Some of the main findings of the survey with these companies/organizations were as follows: 40.5% of surveyed companies/organizations provide leaves that are longer than the 14 days guaranteed by the Labor Law for all employees, regardless of years of service or nature of the job. 30.6% of the survey respondents provide paid paternity leave (most of them between 1 to 4 days), 61.2% of these establishments’ working hours are less than 45 hours per week, while 11.7% provide or support child care facilities for employees’ children, through the establishment and management of day-care facilities for employees’ children, or through contracting such services from external day-care facilities. Most of the companies/organizations indicated the possibility of flexible working hours and teleworking. The workshop focused on the importance of guaranteeing rights and arrangements for workers with family responsibilities in order to implement the principle of equality and non-discrimination in employment and occupation, in addition to finding solutions to mitigate the effects of factors that may lead to direct and indirect discrimination between workers.
On 29/08/2021, DWRC concluded a training course on “Gender equality in the world of work – fundamental rights, ILO standards and domestic laws”. The three-day course, which is part of the “Gender Equality in the Economic Sphere: Our Right, Our Priority” project, implemented by DWRC in partnership with COSPE, PWWSD and EducAid, and funded by the European Union, was attended by 14 participants representing several women’s grassroots organizations in the northern West Bank. It aims at raising awareness among workers and citizens about the importance of amending the labor law from a gender equality perspective, which will contribute in advancing women’s rights at work. The campaign seeks to share information about the legal gaps that need to be addressed, the nature of the amendments proposed and how they will contribute in addressing them, in order to foster wider understanding of the required changes and mobilize support.

The Democracy and Workers’ Rights Center continues its efforts to spread awareness and develop capacities on addressing violence and harassment in the world of work & ILO Convention No. 190
